Course Description:

This course has been developed for the law enforcement supervisor/manager and the school district coordinator or supervisor that has or will have the responsibility of selecting, monitoring, supervising or evaluating a school-based policing program. The course will assist in the development, implementation, and improvement of school-based policing and school resource officer programs. Officers, managers, and school site administrators from across the country have assisted in the creation and development of this course. There will be time built into the program to allow attendees to identify specific needs they may have and to work with the group to identify workable solutions. An additional goal of this course is to create a more standardized approach to gathering of statistical data used to evaluate school-based police officers and programs. Any person that is interested in the development of a strong school-based policing program will benefit from attending this course.

Core Topics:

Selection of Personnel, Evaluation of School-Based Police Officers, Program Evaluation, Marketing of the Program, Community Policing Concepts, Development of a Job Description and Standard Operating Procedures, Problem Solving for Managers, Contract Development and Interpretation.

About Your Instructor:

Lt. Shaun Shepherd will be the lead instructor for this course. Shaun is the program supervisor for the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office in Chattanooga, TN where he supervises twenty-two School Resource Officers. He has been a School Resource Officer and acted as the program coordinator when Hamilton County restarted its entire program after a previous administration had suspended it. He is recognized nationally as an expert in the areas of school safety, school security and school violence. Shaun has served as a consultant in the development of SRO programs and school safety initiatives in Tennessee and across the United States. Attendees will receive on-going support, guidance and mentoring from Corbin & Associates, Inc. We believe that by providing this additional support we are "Building Relationships That Last a Lifetime".
